Overview of Regional Conference

Rural Health care is one of biggest challenges facing the Health Ministry of India. With more than 70 percent population living in rural areas and low level of health facilities, mortality rates due to diseases are on a high. Health is an important component for ensuring better quality of life. Large masses of the Indian poor continue to fight hopeless and constantly losing the battle for survival and health. The war begins even before birth, as malnourishment of the mother reduces life chances of the fetus. India lives in its villages. Rural residents are more likely to experience some of the contributing social factors that impact health, such as poverty. The impact of these challenges can be compounded by the barriers already present in rural areas, such as limited public transportation options and fewer choices to acquire healthy food. Rural residents often encounter barriers to healthcare that limit their ability to obtain the care they need. Nurses can identify health determinants can give innovative solutions to improve rural health.
